

— La Veranda Resort Phu Quoc

Rediscover the elegance of colonial Indochine, unearth the secrets of Vietnam's most picturesque isle.

An Island Sanctuary — Fringed by white sand beaches and enveloped by the azure shallows of the Gulf of Thailand, Phú Quốc is Vietnam's largest and most serene island. Isolated from outside influence for much of its modern history, its untouched coastline can now be easily accessed via a 50-minute flight from Ho Chi Minh City. More than half of the island's 528 sq km interior is blanketed in dense national park; its remainder is dotted with verdant pepper fields and fragrant fish sauce factories; with vibrant villages and bustling fishing ports.

A Mansion by the Sea — Nestled on the sands of the island's stunning southwest coast, La Veranda Resort Phú Quốc, a member of the MGallery Hotel Collection, transports you to a forgotten age of elegance. Imbued with the grandeur of a French colonial mansion and cocooned by lush tropical gardens, every detail of the 74 spacious rooms evokes an era when life was slower, simpler. More refined.

Inspired by History — La Veranda's enticing blend of classical signatures and stylish Vietnamese themes pays tribute to founder Madame Catherine's storied family connection to Phú Quốc and colonial Indochine. Raised in Phnom Penh and on the picturesque waterways surrounding Tonlé Sap Lake, Madame Catherine's childhood during the height of French rule inspired her designs for an authentic 1920s French colonial-style mansion – La Veranda's charming main house.
